Hello Girl Scouts!

Thank you for choosing to visit the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace Museum. I'm honored that your troop has picked Savannah as your destination, and I look forward to welcoming you to the place where Juliette's inspiring vision began.

As you explore our historic city, you will walk the same streets as our founder. Her energy and imagination shaped the Girl Scout Movement and continue to guide generations of young women toward leadership, curiosity, and service.

Every step you take, whether touring the Birthplace, learning about Juliette's life, or discovering the landmarks of her hometown, carries her legacy forward. Your presence keeps her spirit alive, ensuring that her commitment to helping girls grow into confident, capable adults remains a living tradition.

I'm grateful for the opportunity to share this story with you and can't wait to see you here in Savannah. Safe travels, and until then, thank you for being part of Juliette's story.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Shannon Browning-Mullis". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large initial 'S'.

All About the Birthplace

HISTORY

Welcome to the place it all began: the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace. As a troop leader, knowing the history of our site makes for an enriching visit, not just for you but for your troop as well.

The Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace is Savannah's first National Historic Landmark and one of the city's most popular historic house museums. Elizabeth and James Moore Wayne commissioned the home in 1821 at the corner of Bull Street and South Broad Street, now Oglethorpe Avenue. James, Juliette's great-great uncle, later served as a United States Supreme Court Justice. In 1831, Juliette's grandparents purchased the home. Her grandfather, William, died young, but Sarah resided here until she passed in 1882. On October 31, 1860, Juliette, affectionately known as Daisy, was born in the house and stayed there with her family during the Civil War.

Juliette's entire family had deep connections to the house. As children, she and her cousins regularly played there together, and for Juliette's wedding the newly renovated house was the center of activity. The home was the family seat for over a hundred years. On one fateful day in early 1912, Juliette returned to Savannah from the UK and made the famous phone call to her cousin Nina Pape to begin the work on her new dream: of the Girl Guides of America (changed to Girl Scouts in 1913).

Girl Scouts of the USA purchased the house in 1953 to be a Girl Scout program center and historic house museum. Advancing $65,000 from its capital fund to buy the house, they soon discovered it would take nearly three times the purchase price to restore the property. A fundraising campaign, announced in the April 1954 edition of The Girl Scout Leader magazine, encouraged girls and councils to help fund the restoration. A national goal of $500,000 was set to pay for the purchase, restoration, upkeep, and running of the Birthplace.

For over 63 years, Girl Scouts has stewarded the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace, striving to find the balance between preservation and accessibility for the thousands who visit each year. In 1965, the National Park Service recognized the site's significance by placing it the National Register of Historic Places. In 2007, the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace, the Andrew Low House, and the Girl Scout First Headquarters were made a National Historic Landmark

District, the highest category of historic resources recognized by the Department of the Interior. Other accolades have followed, including preservation awards from the Historic Savannah Foundation and the American Institute of Architects in Savannah.

ACCESSIBILITY

The Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace has full elevator access for tours and programs. We have one wheelchair available to visitors upon request. The main entrance to our site is at street level through the garden on Oglethorpe Avenue. You can also enter through the street level store entrance on Bull Street. This is not an automated entrance.

Your reserved tour time is the time your tour begins. Plan to arrive at least 10 minutes in advance to keep your visit stress-free. If you're entering through the Oglethorpe Avenue gate, cross the garden to the ticket building and check in at our welcome desk. There is an automated entry button on the right-hand set of double doors as you approach the building. If you're entering through the entrance on Bull Street, head straight through our museum store. This will lead you into the ticket building with the welcome desk appearing on your left.

Each tour offering has a social story to help you prepare for your visit. To access these, go to our website and click "Accessibility" under the "Visit" tab. Visitors who wish to request additional accommodations may call us at 912-233-4501. Please note that requests for interpreters should be made at least two weeks in advance of your visit.

PARKING

The Birthplace is in the heart of downtown, so finding parking can be challenging, so allow yourself ample time to find parking. There is no parking on site, but limited metered street parking is available in the surrounding area. The nearest city parking garages are the Liberty Street Garage and the State Street Garage.

SERVICE ANIMALS

A service animal, as defined by the Americans with Disabilities Act, is a dog trained to do work or perform specific tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are welcome at the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace. Visitors are not allowed to bring emotional support animals inside the museum.

RESTROOMS

Accessible restrooms are available for museum guests in our ticket building by the ticket desk and in the Orientation Gallery inside the museum. There are restrooms in our program rooms available to program participants. Our restrooms do not have hand dryers, automatic doors, or auto flush mechanisms. They do have changing tables and accessible stalls.

SENSORY CONCERNS

Light, noise, and crowds can vary throughout the site, depending on the time of day and year. If someone in your group has sensory concerns, consider bringing noise-reducing headphones. Busy times vary depending on holidays, school vacations, weather, and other factors. September (after Labor Day) and November (with exception of Thanksgiving week) are usually the quietest months to visit. A quiet room is available to any program participant who needs to step away from program activities for a brain break. If you would like more information about sensory accommodations, please call us in advance of your visit.

CONTACTING US

The best way to contact the Birthplace is directly by phone at 912-233-4501 during our operating hours. You can also email us at birthplace@girlscouts.org, but please allow three to five business days for a response.

GUIDED TOURS

A guided tour of the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace gives your troop an exciting look into the history of our remarkable founder and her home, as well as a chance to celebrate the Movement that is still building girls into strong women of courage, confidence, and character over 100 years later.

Guided tours last 40-50 minutes, and ticket prices differ according to type. Girl Scout student and Girl Scout adult tickets are $10; senior and military tickets are $12. Non-Girl Scout adult tickets are $15, and children under the age of five are free. Since tour times vary, we recommend booking online to see accurate availability. Each guided tour reservation can accommodate 16 people, so if you're planning a trip for a larger group, we recommend splitting them between different tour times.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP EXPERIENCE

Girl Scout Troop Experiences provide a unique opportunity for your troop to bond and build lasting friendships during their trip to the Birthplace. These experiences, specially designed by our Birthplace program team, help girls develop important life skills such as leadership, creativity, communication, and problem-solving.

During a Girl Scout Troop Experience, your troop will explore the historic home and connect the past to the present with a fun, hands-on activity session. With a variety of Girl Scout Troop Experiences to choose from, finding the right fit is important to ensure a successful visit. We suggest talking to your troop about each program and seeing which one piques their interest.

Most Girl Scout Troop Experiences last 3 hours and are $28 per person. Groups must have at least eight participants (including at least one adult), and must not exceed 16 people total. As with guided tours, we recommend splitting groups larger than 16 between different reservations.

Over Teacups is our most elaborate program and is $42 per person. Groups must be either Cadettes, Seniors, Ambassadors, or adult Girl Scout alums, have at least six participants (including at least one adult), and must not exceed 12 people total.

Keep reading for more details on our Girl Scout Troop Experiences.

Guided Tour or Girl Scout Troop Experience?

Troop leaders often ask which Girl Scout offering at the Birthplace suits their troop's needs. Take this short quiz below to see which type of reservation works best for your group!

What does your Savannah itinerary look like?

- A) Jam-packed! We have lots to see and do, with little time in between.
- B) Relaxed. We have things to do, but we're not in a rush and have plenty of time.

How flexible is your troop's trip budget?

- A) We're keeping a tight budget.
- B) We're okay with spending a little more on a special experience.

How does your troop learn best?

- A) We like a shorter, more structured approach where the girls can listen and observe.
- B) We like a longer, more interactive approach where the girls can participate hands-on.

Is it possible to schedule your reservation a month in advance?

- A) No, we still have some last-minute logistics we're figuring out.
- B) Yes, we want to plan as far in advance as possible.

Tally up your score, with As being one point and Bs being three points. Scoring eight or above means a Girl Scout Troop Experience might be more suitable for your group, while a score below eight indicates a guided tour may be a better fit. Use these questions with your troop to guide your decision.

PICTURE THIS!

From a young age, Juliette Gordon Low discovered she had a passion for art and storytelling, a passion she shared with the earliest Girl Scout troops. Inspired by the work of Juliette and other women artists of the Progressive Era, participants will take on the role of a member of an artist collective creating art for an exhibition. At the end of the session, participants will receive a take-home activity with guidelines on hosting an art show.

Picture This! gives girls an opportunity to express who they are, what interests them, and how they see the world. The goal of this program is for participants to engage in self-reflection and humor, stretching their imaginations beyond what they see to focus on what might be.

SHE'S GOT GAME

Are you afraid of making mistakes? Saying the wrong thing? Starting something new? What holds you back from taking action in life? Playing games can help you with that! The time Juliette Gordon Low spent as a girl playing and making up games with family and friends gave her the courage, confidence, and character she needed to start Girl Scouts. She made sure that having fun was an important part of Girl Scouting from the beginning. Carry on this Girl Scout tradition, have fun, and face your fears while playing games with other Girl Scouts.

She's Got Game is an exploration into communicating confidently. Our focus extends beyond presentations, with improvisational games that nurture advocacy skills and boost self-assurance. By participating, girls learn to conquer fears of embarrassment and failure, fostering resilience and personal growth. Program activities also illuminate the rich history of early Girl Scouts, drawing connections to the remarkable life of Juliette Gordon Low herself.

HOUSE FOR ALL

The Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace opened its doors to visitors in 1956 with the goal of being a “house for all girls.” What does it mean to make a place where everyone feels welcome and included? How would you design a building to be fun and easy for anyone to use? What resources do you need to break through barriers to accessibility? In this strategy game, you’ll trade cards and collaborate with your teammates to design a welcoming, accessible place for your imaginary clients to live, work, and play. You’ll find out about inclusive design and how designing for accessibility first can make the world a better place for everyone.

House for All promotes the spirit of teamwork. The most important element of this program is its application in the real world. Your troop will leave with a fresh perspective on how they can make a difference in their own communities and a take home activity to get them started.

OVER TEACUPS

Imagine a warm, comforting cup of tea in your hand, the gentle murmur of conversation filling the room, and the sense of sisterhood in the air as you sit comfortably in Juliette's family parlor. For generations, women have gathered at teatime to talk about real challenges and work for change, opened tea rooms to fund their causes, and sold cakes and cookies to fight for justice. Juliette Gordon Low enjoyed the ritual of afternoon tea often. It was "over teacups" that Juliette and her cousin Nina Pape introduced the Girl Scout Movement to the United States.

Girl Scout Cadettes, Seniors, and Ambassadors are invited to sit down together for tea with light refreshments in the same parlor where Juliette hosted tea parties for the first Girl Scouts. And maybe, just as it did for Juliette Gordon Low and other daring women before and since, your tea talk will inspire a recipe for a better future.

Which program fits my group?

Do you want to foster your troop's creativity and self-expression?

Consider Picture This! if your troop is artistic, prefers working individually, or varies in age.

Do you want to help your troop build their public speaking skills in a fun and exciting way?

Consider She's Got Game if your troop is high energy, enjoys improvisation, and likes playing imagination-based games.

Is your troop interested in learning about positively contributing to their community?

Consider House for All if your troop prefers to work together, likes puzzles, and enjoys tabletop games or games with design elements.

Do you have a troop of Cadettes, Seniors, or Ambassadors that want to be immersed in Girl Scout history?

Consider Over Teacups if your troop likes trying new things, loves history, and is looking for a more formal experience.

RESERVATION PROCEDURES

Visiting troops can easily book their guided tour or Girl Scout Troop Experience reservation through our website or by contacting the Birthplace directly. The website's online reservation system allows groups to select their preferred date and time, ensuring a seamless booking experience. It is advisable to book well in advance, especially during peak seasons like spring break and summer, or if you have specific time constraints. Reservations become available to book six months in advance.

Once you've booked your tour, a confirmation email is sent to your inbox. Be sure to save this email, as it will have important reservation details such as your tour date, tour time, and booking number.

Ordering group t-shirts and joining Circle of Friends can be done ahead of time by visiting our website. Completing these before your trip makes planning a breeze and leaves more time to enjoy your troop's experience.

Be punctual for your tour or program to make the most of the experience. If issues arise with your reservation, give us a call and we'll work to accommodate your desired changes.

Commemorate your troop's trip to the Birthplace by booking a photo package with our preferred partner, Photos by Becky! With over 15 years of Girl Scout photography experience, Becky Flaxer is the Birthplace's first choice when it comes to capturing high-quality memories. Becky will lead your group in an unforgettable photography experience, capturing any combination of photos you can imagine. Sessions are approximately 40 minutes. Photos are taken in front of and around the Birthplace and shipped to one address. This is a great memento for leaders, volunteers, and girls!

Simply choose the "photo package" option when booking your tour. Once you've booked, click the Photo Package link on your confirmation letter. After reserving your photo package, pre-visit instructions are sent to your email to ensure the photo sessions goes smoothly. Already booked your experience, but didn't add a photo package? Contact the Birthplace to amend your reservation.

Reservations for photo packages must be made one month in advance and meet our 10-print minimum.

MUSEUM STORE

The Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace Store proudly features women-owned businesses, many of which are owned by Girl Scout alums. The store is also your source for Fair Trade, local, and Girl Scout-branded merchandise.

Whether you are looking for the perfect gift or a souvenir to remember your visit, the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace Store has your shopping trip covered. The store offers a range of beautiful, handmade artisan goods from around the world; locally made self-care products using natural ingredients, and exclusive Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace items. There is something to fit any Girl Scout's budget with a wide variety of products to meet everyone's taste.

The museum store is open from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. If you book a Girl Scout Troop Experience, you will have a scheduled shopping time to make your planning easier. The store staff is excited and looking forward to your upcoming visit with your Girl Scout troop!

PLANNING AHEAD

Troops can decide on their pins and patches ahead of time by printing and completing the form, found on our "Girl Scout Pre-Visit Checklist" page on our website. By filling this out before your visit, your troop has plenty of time to select their purchases and budget accordingly. If you don't fill out the form ahead of time, don't fret! We'll give you the chance during your visit.

Troops can order t-shirts in advance on the Girl Scout Shop website under "Shop Your Council" then select Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is your refund policy?

The amount refunded depends on the date of cancellation. Full refunds are available up to 60 days prior to your visit and 50% of fees are refundable 31–59 days prior to visit. No refunds will be given within 30 days of your visit. If you need to cancel your reservation, call the Birthplace directly.

Is there a dress code for visiting the Birthplace?

No! Feel free to visit wearing whatever makes you feel comfortable. Most often we see troops wearing their uniforms or matching t-shirts. However, this is not a requirement. Consider ordering Birthplace t-shirts before your visit.

Will we meet other Girl Scouts during our visit?

During the busy months of March, April, June, and July, your group will most likely run into other Girl Scout troops visiting Savannah. Feel free to call ahead and ask us how our reservations look for the day of your visit!

Can parents or non-Girl Scout chaperones participate in a Birthplace visit?

Certainly! Our reservations have a maximum of 16 participants, but if space is available, they are welcome to participate. We do not have provisions for those who want to watch only. We encourage everyone on the reservation to be an active participant.

What can other adults who aren't participating do during their troop's visit?

Those who aren't participating in a Girl Scout Troop Experience are encouraged to take a general tour. They will not be with the troop, but staff can help them time their tour conveniently. For those wanting to take a break, there is ample resting space around the site. The garden is a great option, as well as benches in our ticketing area. Oglethorpe Street and Bull Street host convenient shopping and dining for a quick excursion before meeting troops back at the Birthplace.

What online resources are available to help plan our trip?

Troop-specific resources can be found on our website under the "Visitor Information" tab by clicking "Girl Scout Pre-Visit Checklist." Here you can find information about everything mentioned in Birthplace Bound, as well as printable forms to fill out before your visit.

Where do we wear our Birthplace pins?

They are worn on the right-hand side, under your troop number and membership stars.

Is photography allowed?

Yes! You can take photos in and around the site. The only restrictions are no video, audio recordings, or flash photography during the historic house tour. We encourage troops to book a professional photo package with our partner, Photos by Becky. You can do so when reserving your Birthplace visit.

Where can we eat food on site?

Our outdoor garden is a great place for your troop to enjoy snacks and meals. Food is permitted in our ticketing area where recycling and trash bins are readily available. No food, gum, or candy is allowed in the museum.

How can we continue to support the Birthplace after our visit?

There are several ways to support our site after your visit. Consider joining Circle of Friends, a membership group that directly supports the Birthplace. Your troops donation helps us in our mission of preserving and sharing the legacy of Juliette Gordon Low. Additionally, you can support us by spreading the word about your visit and sharing your experience with others. Write a review on travel websites, post about it on social media, or simply tell your friends and family about the Birthplace.

Girl Scouts' Own and Pinning Ceremony

Girl Scouts' Own is a special ceremony for Girl Scouts to reflect on their experiences in Girl Scouting, like commemorating a visit to the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace and earning the Birthplace pin.

Although troops are welcome to plan their own, you can request a long and short form ceremony script created especially for our site during your visit. Birthplace Girl Scouts' Own and Pinning Ceremonies traditionally take place in the garden, however staff may be able to help find a sheltered location in the case of rain. You can add a bridging, awards, or other meaningful component; however, Birthplace ceremonies do not include candle lighting, sparklers, glitter, or confetti so we can keep our site safe and clean for all our visitors.

Circle of Friends Membership

“Truly, ours is a circle of friendships, united by our ideals.”

—Juliette Gordon Low, 1925

In 1953, Girl Scouts sent in their dimes and dollars to buy and restore the Juliette Gordon Low Birthplace. Their donations helped save our house from being torn down. Instead, it opened as a museum and program center. Your troop can be part of this tradition by joining Circle of Friends, a membership group that directly supports the Birthplace.

The cost of membership is $2 per girl in the troop, with a minimum of $20 per troop. Members may purchase the Circle of Friends patch for $3 to signify their membership. The patch, featured above, may be worn on the front of the uniform. Troops also receive a certificate to commemorate their support.

Join Today!

During a visit to the Birthplace, your troop will have the opportunity to join Circle of Friends. If you wish to join in advance, please fill out and mail the Circle of Friends on our website. If you have any questions, contact our shop at 912-257-4314 or birthplace@girlscouts.org.

Your troop can leave their mark on the Birthplace by donating $500 for on-site recognition on our Donor Wall. Your troop's name will be engraved on to a metal leaf and displayed in the main hallway in our museum store.

All About Savannah

CITY HISTORY

Welcome to Savannah, Georgia! Founded in the 1730s by General James Oglethorpe, our city stands as one of the oldest cities in the United States. As your Girl Scout troop explores the cobblestone streets and historic squares, you'll discover the city's role in shaping America's history. Savannah was an integral part of the British colonial system and played a crucial role during the American Revolution as the site of the Siege of Savannah in 1779.

The city's distinct layout, with 22 picturesque squares surrounded by historic homes and churches, reflects Oglethorpe's vision for a utopian city. Each square tells a story, from the iconic Forsyth Park with its stunning fountain to Chippewa Square, famous for the bench scene in the movie "Forrest Gump." Take a stroll through these squares and you'll be transported back in time, surrounded by 18th and 19th-century architecture that has been lovingly preserved.

Savannah's rich history extends through centuries. The preservation of our city's architectural heritage earned Savannah the distinction of being the first in the U.S. to have a National Historic Landmark District. Savannah is even more special to Girl Scouts, as it is the hometown of Juliette Gordon Low.

Explore historic landmarks, try local cuisine, and soak up the stories of Savannah's fascinating history. From its beginnings as a colonial stronghold to its influence on trailblazing women like Juliette Gordon Low, Savannah is brimming with stories that are waiting to be discovered. We invite you to experience the historic charm of this captivating city with your Girl Scout troop.

GETTING HERE

Getting here is part of the excitement, and Savannah offers various transportation options to make your journey smooth and enjoyable.

Arriving by Air

Savannah/Hilton Head International Airport (SAV) is the primary airport serving the city. It was voted #1 airport in the U.S. in the 2023 Condé Nast Traveler Readers' Choice Awards! If you're flying in, you'll find numerous airlines providing connections to Savannah. Taxis, ride-share services, and shuttles are readily available to take you to your accommodation from the airport.

By Car

Savannah is well-connected by major highways, making it easily accessible by car. Interstate 95 (I-95) is a major north-south route that connects Savannah to cities along the East Coast, while Interstate 16 (I-16) is a key east-west route leading into the city. These highways offer a convenient and scenic way to reach Savannah, allowing you to enjoy the journey as much as the destination.

Train Travel

The Savannah train station is located a few miles west of the Historic District, about a ten-minute drive. Train journeys can be a scenic and comfortable way to explore the region.

Regional Buses

Explore your options with regional bus services, such as Greyhound or Megabus, which provide affordable and convenient transportation to and from Savannah. These services connect the city with nearby destinations, offering flexibility in your travel plans.

WHERE TO STAY

As you plan your troop's adventure, exploring the various lodging options around town is a crucial part of planning an unforgettable experience. Here's a guide to different accommodations Savannah has to offer:

Tell them you're a troop.

Savannah loves Girl Scout troops. Many hotels offer special discounts and accommodations specifically for Girl Scouts. Consider any of the following hotels that have donated to the Birthplace!

Homewood Suites by Hilton

611 E River Street
Spacious suites, free breakfast, and a rooftop pool

AC Hotels Marriot

601 E River Street
Savannah's new riverfront hotel

Double Tree by Hilton

411 W Bay Street
Famous for its warm cookies and a refreshing pool

Hilton Garden Inn

321 W Bay Street
A refreshing pool and just steps from the Birthplace

Hampton by Hilton

603 W Oglethorpe Avenue
Free breakfast and group discounts

Embassy Suites

605 W Oglethorpe Avenue
Outdoor pool and free cooked-to-order breakfast

Vacation Rentals

For a more immersive and local experience, consider renting a vacation home or apartment through online platforms. Enjoy the flexibility of communal living spaces, cook homemade meals, and savor the freedom of living like a Savannah local. There are plenty of options to choose from downtown, midtown, and on Tybee Island.

Travel Itineraries

EXPLORE SAVANNAH

Planning a trip is a daunting task! We have put together some sample itineraries to help your troop begin their journey.

Our Top Tips

No one knows your troop better than you. Consider if your troop likes quiet museum trips or hands-on workshops. There's something for everyone.

Don't forget to eat! When looking at your day, make sure you have ample time to relax with some good food.

Take a break. Savannah has a lot to do, so you want to make sure you don't overwhelm your troop, especially Daisies and Brownies. Add in some time to sit in a park or a square so your troop can relax.

Go to the beach. Tybee Island is only a twenty-minute drive away and is a perfect getaway, especially in the summer heat.

Plan ahead. Many experiences need to be booked at least a month in advance.

Bring shoes you can walk in. Savannah is a walkable city, so anticipate walking two to five miles a day.

Take inspiration from our sample guides here or go to our website to download blank travel itineraries!
